

ASSISTED LIVING

Furnishing with care

Senior Living facilities are the perfect place to utilize quality commercial products that will hold up over time, but still offer a sense of warmth and sophistication. Creating a space that feels-like-home is our top priority. We can help you put that person touch into each design, so the end result is functional as well as inviting.. A place for healing, connecting and living comfortably.

"Shared spaces play a special role in the health and wellbeing of the residents within a Senior Living community, as they are a vibrant and communal area of interaction. The furniture in these spaces should foster a sense of belonging, peace, and comfort to support Seniors and their community of sharing and activity.." – Carolina

Furniture to get Some Fresh Air

"Supporting "whole-person wellness" in senior living through strategic design is integral to supporting the well-being of residents, according to a new study. The study focused on the following wellness strategies: autonomy, control and choice; design in variety; patterns of movement; natural connections; touch of serendipity; degrees of privacy; layers of light; sensory experiences; and feelings of home." – McKnight's Senior Living News

Project Teams

ACCOUNT MANAGER

Your account manager is your primary contact. They'll guide the process from start to finish, working in the background with the other members of your project team. They are your go-to person for anything you need throughout the course of your project.

DESIGNERS

Account managers work with a member of our design staff on projects that require more than just a simple product quote. The role of the designer varies by project, but can include the following services:

Space Planning

Finish Selection and Specification

Product Specification

Furniture Renderings

Furniture and Installation Plans

SALES SUPPORT

These team members are responsible for order entry and tracking. They work directly with manufacturers and your account manager to ensure your product delivery is sequenced correctly and arrives on time.

PROJECT MANAGER

Our project managers coordinate the installation of your products and oversee the installation process. They are tasked with keeping your installation on schedule and reporting any issues that arise. They will also work with your account manager to handle any damage or warranty claims that may arise.
